

The background of the entire image is a photograph of a food processing facility. In the foreground, a large blue CEJN high-pressure hose is connected to a silver metal gun. In the middle ground, a conveyor belt carries golden-brown fried food items, possibly french fries, which are being sprayed with water from a high-pressure nozzle. In the background, a worker in a blue uniform and cap is visible near other industrial equipment. The facility has a clean, industrial look with stainless steel surfaces and overhead pipes.
